RUSSIA LOSES
VOTE AGAINST
ATOMIC PLANREPORT ON CONTROL
SETUP APPROVED
10 TO 2

BY FRANCES W. CARPENTER
Lake Success, Sept. 8 (AP)—Two United Nations atomic committees overrode vigorous Russian objections today and approved a report laying down principles for creation and operation of an international atomic control agency.

After losing consistently to a majority of ten delegates in the committee, Prof. Dmitri V. Skobel'syn of Russia charged that the majority did not desire to achieve unanimous agreement.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada, chairman, promptly reminded him that any country could suggest any changes to the full U. N. Atomic Energy Commission, which will meet Wednesday for final action on the report.

Deadline Sept. 16
The day's prime developments were:

1. The political committee approved the backbone of the report made up of six papers dealing with organization and functions of the proposed control agency.

The vote was 10 countries for all six papers and Soviet Russia opposed to all six. Poland opposed five papers and abstained on the sixth.

2. The working committee, made up of the same delegates, approved these papers also plus all other sections of the proposed report. The vote was the same on the papers.

The committees worked all day against a deadline set by order of the Security Council last March for the atomic commission to produce a second report before the U. N. assembly meets in New York on Sept. 16.

Other Phases Next
The work today meant that the delegates finally have agreed upon a draft of what they say is merely a progress report for the council. They plan to continue other phases of atomic discussions until they get further directions from the council.

The big fight came over a French move to insert in the report a statement that Soviet proposals for an atomic control agency, submitted June 11, had led to the conclusion that "these pro-

Meat From Europe
Seized To Prevent
Livestock Disease

New York, Sept. 8 (AP)—A campaign to prevent spread of livestock diseases in the United States has resulted in seizure of many tons of meat carried by passengers from Europe arriving here in the last three months, an agriculture department official said today.

Dr. Truman W. Cole, an inspector in the department's bureau of animal husbandry, estimated 200 to 300 pounds daily were seized at LaGuardia airport and many as two tons were taken from passengers on each ship arriving.

Despite European food shortages, many passengers are trying to bring salami, ham and a "mixture for which there is no name" into the country to repay Americans who sent them food during the war, Cole said.

Science Will
Try To Break
Up Hurricane

BY E. V. W. JONES
Miami, Fla., Sept. 8 (AP)—A minor tropical storm made a sneak appearance in the Gulf of Mexico today and became a meteorological guinea pig for history's first hurricane-busting experiment.

Today's storm developed too close to the Florida west coast to be seeded with dry ice or other crystals by Army and Navy planes. The military services and scientists cooperating with them want a bigger storm farther at sea for their first real effort.

A Navy hurricane hunter plane from the Miami naval air station probed the gulf storm for a possible last bit of research before the actual hurricane busting effort begins.

The hurricane hunter craft was piloted by Lt. R. Dannellet, with Lt. Comdr. C. Marshall the copilot and Ensign W. J. Remillard the meteorologist. No chemicals were dropped into the storm.

All phases of the plan to artificially disintegrate hurricanes will be ready next weekend. Crews are being briefed, photographic equipment gathered and scientific data studied for the effort. The Army, Navy and General Electric Company will cooperate in the plan which has been worked out by Dr. Irving Langmuir, noted physicist and Nobel Prize winner.

Technique Described
Various chemicals are to be used, but the experiment will be cautiously conducted because the effect on such a storm is not known. Meteorologists believe that the release of heat energy in condensation and precipitation is a part of the motivating force behind hurricanes.

"Busting" them will release a great deal of energy quickly. The technique to be used by the Army and Navy was described as follows:

The weather-science plane loaded with chemicals will seek out an upper section of the storm where supercooled air prevails. It will fly at least 500 feet above the lower level of the supercooled area and drop pea-sized pellets of chemicals into the hurricane at a rate of about 24 ounces per mile.

Army and Navy planes will fly above the storm to observe the effect. Photographs and observations will be analyzed, and the attack will be stepped up until its full effect is known.

The committees worked all day against a deadline set by order of the Security Council last March for the atomic commission to produce a second report before the U. N. assembly meets in New York on Sept. 16.

AUTO INDUSTRY
SHORT OF HELPScarcity Of Skilled And
Semi-Skilled Workers
Crimps Production

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automobile Editor

Detroit, Sept. 8 (AP)—The car industry, fighting a continuing scarcity of sheet steel, may find a manpower shortage also handicapping its efforts to boost production volume during the remainder of 1947.

Right now the industry is short on skilled and semi-skilled workers. The demand for this type of manpower probably is greater at present than it has been at any time since the war.

Undoubtedly the planning for new model presentations six to eight months hence is reflected to some extent in the search for millwrights, machinists and metal finishers, molders, core makers and welders and many other classes of experienced workers. Many, however, are sought for work on current model types.

The frequent shutdowns in the car industry in recent months has caused much shifting of workers. Industry authorities explain the current shortage, in part at least, by saying many skilled workers laid off during these plant closings, sought work in other lines where layoffs were likely to be less frequent.

Despite the current shortage total employment in the nation's automotive plants is at a higher average than it was during the war.

Referring to the Memphis beauty's statements at Atlantic City that she did not like to see women smoking and that she didn't think anyone could drink moderately, the minister wrote:

"Do not think for a moment that your witnessing for such principles is being overlooked by our youth of today."

No one at the church was surprised that Barbara won the coveted title, Council told a reporter.

Members of the congregation smiled and nodded as the minister told them that, in the situation in which Barbara found herself she "represented the highest and best in life."

DELHI RIOTING
FATAL TO 300;
CITIES ABLAZEMOSLEMS BATTLE
HINDUS; SNIPERS
ON ROOFTOPS

BY WALTER J. MASON
New Delhi, India, Sept. 8 (AP)—The twin cities of old and new Delhi were in a virtual state of siege tonight as police and the military used light cannons, rapid-fire weapons and hand grenades to quell Moslem-Hindu rioting which one high police official said had killed at least 300 persons in two days.

Countless fires, big and small, blazed in the worst affected sections of the old city, where today's rioting centered. New Delhi, which suffered worst yesterday, was fairly quiet today compared with the outbreaks in the crowded bazaar and tenement areas of old Delhi, where whole blocks of houses were set afire.

Mortars Home-Made
Heavy firing, which rattled almost continuously during the morning, slackened during the afternoon, picked up somewhat in the early evening, then subsided except for occasional shots.

Adding to the difficulties of those attempting to keep order in the extremely narrow alleys—some barely 15 feet wide—was the sniping from rooftops at the police, the military or members of a rival religious community.

A police magistrate said troops heaved grenades onto rooftops where snipers had been spotted. The magistrate displayed homemade mortars fastened to hand-hewn wooden stocks which he said had been captured in one area. He added that some "bad characters" had holed up in buildings and that the military had not been able to drive them out, even with machineguns.

The magistrate said that whereas earlier refugees in this area were mainly Moslems, evacuees now include members of all religious communities: Moslems, Hindus and Sikhs. Mass evacuations were frequently observed by Associated Press correspondents during day-long tours of trouble areas in the old city.

The correspondents watched one caravan estimated at 10,000 Moslems pouring out of the Subzi Mandi vegetable market area, one of the most riot-torn districts in the city.

High Delhi civil authorities said they had tried to avoid the use of rapid-fire weapons until today but were forced to resort to them to control the situation.

Ticker Tape Rains

Cleveland Parade

Cleveland, Sept. 8 (AP)—Showers of ticker tape rained down today as an estimated 15,000 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars paraded under a hot sun for two hours and 55 minutes.

Sprinkled with approximately 60 bands and in costumes varying from overalls to gaudy colored clothing, the marchers tramped over a route of several miles in one of the highlights of the VFW encampment.

The encampment, the largest in VFW history with 20,000 registered delegates and an estimated 40,000 guests, ends six days of sessions tomorrow with nomination of officers in the morning and election and installation at the final afternoon meeting.

Palestine Partition
Opposed By Arabs;
World War Feared

BY MAX HARRERSON
Lake Success, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Arab higher committee for Palestine declared today that any attempt by the United Nations to enforce a division of Palestine into separate Jewish and Arab countries "will only lead to trouble and bloodshed and probably to a third world war."

Opening the Arab campaign against the recommendations of the U. N. special committee on Palestine, a statement from a delegation of the Arab higher committee said the plan to partition the Holy Land was "absurd, impractical and unjust."

The Arab higher committee for Palestine is recognized by Britain as the official voice of Palestine Arabs.

"The Arabs shall never allow a Jewish state to be established in one inch of Palestine," the Arab group said. "The only solution acceptable to the Arabs is the declaration of the independence of Palestine as an Arab democratic sovereign state. Not a single Jew will be allowed to migrate to Palestine."

London 'Bombing'
Plot Squelched;
U. S. Rabbi Held

BY REMBERT JAMES
Paris, Sept. 8 (AP)—Nine persons, including an American rabbi, were held today for police investigation of an alleged plot to "bomb" London with Stern gang leaflets, but Reginald Gilbert, 24-year-old Birmingham, Ala., native who was engaged to pilot the "bombing" plane, was released and flown to England in an RAF plane.

Gilbert, arrested with Rabbi Baruch Korff and the latter's woman secretary at an airport near Versailles Saturday, worked with police to foil the plan to drop the Jewish underground propaganda leaflets on London.

The young pilot was reported by friends to have been put under Scotland Yard's protection until he can return to the United States.

Korff announced he was on a hunger strike when he appeared in the police line-up today. He and eight others were brought before Judge Fernand Golletti and charged with possession of "pamphlets of foreign origin."

Gilbert's friends said that as a pilot in the United States Army Air Forces during the war he flew 136 fighter missions over the continent and was credited with shooting down nine German aircraft.

They said he had gone directly to the British embassy from the meeting with Korff, at which he was asked to pilot the rabbi's plane, and reported the plot. The propaganda "raid" on London was to have coincided with the disembarkation of Jewish refugees from British transports at Hamburg.

Police said they feared for the young flyer's life if the Stern gang ever caught him.

Korff showed anger and surprise when he, his red-haired, Hungarian-born secretary, Judith Rosenberg, 23, and Gilbert were arrested at pistol-point as they started from their automobile toward a pamphlet-laden plane.

Police said there was a possibility certain Jewish terrorists in France also had plotted an aerial expedition over England to drop home-made bombs but added that no such bombs had been discovered. Thus far there has been no official indication of any link between the alleged plan to fly the pamphlets over London and a possible plan to drop explosives.

Navy Fires V-2
FROM CARRIER
Huge Missile Launched
At Sea Opens New Era
In War Weapons

Washington, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Navy opened up what its top expert called "a new era in naval weapons" today with the announcement that a German V-2 rocket was fired last Saturday from the carrier Midway at sea.

It was the first recorded launching of one of the mass destruction weapons from any moving platform.

The Navy refrained from calling the whole demonstration a "success," using that word only to describe the actual launching operation. Nevertheless the test brought fearfully close the day when any target within V-2 range of a coastline may be menaced by the weapons that battered London and shattered Antwerp.

The announcement, chary of details, said the V-2 "after traveling successfully *** traveled about six miles and exploded."

No explanation was given of why the missile went only such a short distance.

Navy officials, who would not be quoted by name, told a reporter the test had been planned for maximum range. The Germans were firing V-2's up to 200 miles toward the close of World War II.

The V-2, more than 40 feet in length and weighing about 26,000 pounds when fully fueled and its warhead loaded with explosives, is heavier than any aircraft bomb in actual use so far, though bombs of 40,000 pounds weight and more are in the planning stage.

Political Pulses Felt By Taft For Presidential Race

Columbus, O., Sept. 8 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft entrained for Chicago tonight on a political "pulse-feeling" tour of the west, after he was told by Ohio Republican leaders that "very encouraging" reports had been received on his probable campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Senator Taft, who has told Ohio Republicans he would announce his decision early in October on making the race for president following his 25-day western tour, had a lengthy powwow today with party chieftains here.

Afterward, Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), who is slated to be Taft's campaign manager, said party organizations in other states already had been informed of "the availability of Sen. Taft."

The reports were informed from the other states were very encouraging. A lot of leaders in these states, who were not notified by us wrote in favorable letters. We have received very encouraging reports on action in states that Sen. Taft will visit on his tour of the west.

NEW GREEK REGIME Pushes Amnesty For Guerrilla Fighters
BY L. S. CHAKALES
Athens, Sept. 8 (AP)—The new Greek government, seeking a vote of confidence in parliament, announced tonight it would invite an international commission to "guarantee execution" of an unconditional amnesty to guerrillas who surrender with their arms "as soon as possible."

Premier Themistokles Sophoulis, chief of the liberal-populist coalition government, announced the amnesty plan to parliament, as a step to end the prolonged and costly warfare in the north.

Parliament then adjourned until tomorrow, when the vote of confidence will be taken. Leaders of the several opposition parties told parliament today they would vote confidence in the Sophoulis cabinet, but Spiro Markezini, leader of a group of 19 deputies who have bolted from the populists, said he would agree only to a vote of "tolerance."

Sophoulis said that as soon as "pacification" of the country had been accomplished new elections would be held.

HOGS TOP FOOD
PRICE UPSWINGButter $1.05 In Chicago
Area; Margarine Cut
5 Cents A Pound

Chicago, Sept. 8 (AP)—Hogs led the upward march of food prices on the nation's primary markets today, soaring to record highs in several mid-western markets on buying demand traced to the Pacific coast area.

Along with hogs, butter continued its upward climb at Chicago and New York, setting new peaks for the year at both cities. Eggs also moved ahead, going up to 60 cents a dozen wholesale on the Chicago mercantile exchange.

The thirty dollar hog returned to the country at Omaha, Sioux City and East St. Louis. That was a good 75 cents a hundred pounds above the top Chicago price. Market experts said the western markets encountered a strong demand from shippers for movement of live hogs to the far west.

A record $31 was paid for hogs on the south San Francisco market today—the highest price in records dating to 1923. The Denver stockyards reported several consignments of hogs went at a new all time high price of $31.25, a dollar higher than last week's previous high record.

At both Chicago and New York the top butter price was 84 1/2 cents a pound wholesale. The Chicago mercantile exchange said, "traders reported small stores were selling top butter grades as high as $1.05 a pound" in the Chicago area.

However, margarine manufacturers announced a price reduction of about 5 cents a pound.

Laborers On Strike
In North Italy As
U. S. Food Arrives

Rome, Sept. 8 (AP)—The directing committee of the governing Christian Democratic party of Premier Alcide De Gasperi tonight called an "urgent meeting" for tomorrow to examine the political situation "following a strike today by an estimated 800,000 laborers in north Italy."

The strike appeared to be the full-dress opening of a labor-leist campaign against the government over mounting living costs. It menaced the Po Valley rice crop.

As the leftist storm of discontent appeared to be gathering, the first shipments of the post-UNRRA United States aid to Italy—$125,000,000 worth of supplies, mainly grain and coal—arrived at Genoa and Naples. A high official of the United States Embassy, would not allow himself to be identified, said today the embassy would embark on an all-out poster and radio campaign to publicize the aid and combat leftist pressure on the government.

Lansing, Sept. 8 (AP)—Governor Sigler is confined at the station hospital at Selfridge Field with an attack of acute gastro-intestinal upset.

The governor was hospitalized Sunday night.

Col. Hervey Porter, Army surgeon at the hospital, said the governor's attack was brought on by "over work and fatigue" and would require hospitalization for several days. Sigler cancelled all appointments and speaking engagements for two weeks.

He entered the hospital on his return from Mackinac Island where Col. T. H. Rutnell, commandant at Selfridge, and Mrs. Rutnell were weekend guests.

TROOPS FIGHT
REFUGEES ON
BRITISH BOATTRIP TO HOLY LAND
ENDS IN FAILURE
FOR 4,300

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 8 (AP)—British troops disembarked 1,406 Jews of the Exodus 1947 today amid scenes of violence, using clubs and their fists to smash resistance of some against landing on German soil.

"This is as bad as Hitler," Jews shouted at the soldiers.

By nightfall the refugees were lodged in a heavily guarded displaced persons camp at Poppendorf, near Hamburg. Thus ended their long journey back to Europe from Palestine waters aboard the British transport Ocean Vigour, the first of three such ships to be unloaded.

Many Manhandled
Estimates of how many Jews offered resistance varied. Two correspondents permitted aboard the transport said one out of seven—about 175—were subjected to physical pressure. Newsmen watching from the dock saw 50 Jews manhandled. An official British statement said one Jew was hospitalized with head injuries, while several were treated for bruises and other injuries.

Early tomorrow the British plan to unload the second ship of the convoy, returning to Germany. 4,300 Jews who sailed for the Holy Land from France on July 10, only to be taken in charge eight days later by the British navy off the Palestine coast.

The Jews sailed originally from Sele, France. They refused to disembark when they were returned to Port de Boue, and the British finally brought them to Hamburg. Today's disembarkation was preceded by an invitation to leave the ship peacefully.

British officials expressed fear tomorrow's landing would see additional violence, but said the troops again were ordered to drag ashore any Jew who resisted.

More Trouble Expected
The Jews who disembarked today were reported more peacefully inclined than those on the other two vessels, Empire Rival and the Rummeye Park. The Empire Rival is expected to be unloaded tomorrow.

The disembarking began at 6:20 a. m. and was peaceful for the first three hours, when about half of the refugees were unloaded. A radio loudspeaker which had asked the Jews to step peacefully ashore was blaring out music, including "Saturday night is the loneliest night in the week."

Then violence broke out in the No. two hold, where Jews spurned the invitation to land quietly. In full view of correspondents on the Quayside, the British troops began beating the resisting Jews with truncheons—wooden clubs—and dragging them bodily down the dock and to the Poppendorf-bound train.

Vaughan Berry, British regional commissioner for Hamburg, the civilian responsible for disembarkation of the Jews, issued this

UNEMPLOYED IN COUNTY IS 675

Total Is 10% Below Last Month; 480 Jobless Are Veterans

Total unemployment in Delta county as reflected by the records of the Michigan state employment service decreased by approximately 10 per cent as compared to the previous month. The current total of 675 jobless persons in Delta county includes 40 females, 480 veterans and the remainder male non-veterans, it was announced yesterday.

During August, 136 new applications for work were taken of which there were 24 females, 53 veterans and 59 male non-veterans. A total of 145 persons were referred for employment interviews and 60 were hired by local employers.

Job openings received by the local office totaled 118 which is approximately the same as for the previous month. However a number of these openings during August were for temporary employment at the U. P. State Fair.

There is very little anticipated demand in the area. Temporary work will be offered by the U. S. Forest Service within the next week or ten days. However a number of workers will be laid off within the next 60 days due to the termination of other seasonal employment.

The Escanaba Glove company is increasing its personnel as rapidly as workers can be trained and additional equipment installed. They are using aptitude tests administered by the local employment office to assist them in selecting workers. All women who are unemployed and seeking employment are urged to contact the Michigan state employment service at 1323 Ludington street.

Ziegler Rejects Bridge Proposal

Menominee, Mich.—Hopes of Menominee city officials and civic leaders for state financial assistance in construction of a new bridge between lower Sheridan road and Menominee have been dashed by a ruling by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler rejecting the proposal.

Ziegler's ruling, contained in a letter read at the last city council meeting, was in reply to a request made two weeks ago by aldermanic board for a hearing on a proposal to extend M-174 from the Ann Arbor dock road to the Wisconsin state line and to determine need for a new span to replace the half-century old present swing bridge which has so deteriorated that limits have been placed on all loads crossing it.

Ziegler ruled that "under present conditions and finances, the Highway Department is unable to give any consideration to the extension of M-173 and the participation in the construction of another bridge."

ALASKA OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES

But Prices Are Steep, Menominee Man Reports

Menominee, Mich.—"Alaska is the land of opportunity, but it's no land of milk and honey unless you are willing to work," says George Britz, Menominee garage man, who returned this week with his wife and two children after a month long trip by car, trailer and airplane.

Britz and his family left on Aug. 6 with a new car and new trailer and drove to Alaska by way of Canada and the Alcan highway. At Fairbanks he sold the car and trailer, and the family, including Rusty, a Cocker spaniel, flew back to Chicago.

"You can talk about inflation here but they really have it up there," Britz said. "It is the ideal place for a young couple with a little get to save $25,000 in three years. And I really mean it," he said. "A woman can make $85 a week as a waitress and that doesn't count tips, while a handy man who is a mechanic, carpenter or bulldozer operator can make $175 to $200 a week. Living expenses are cheap if you live in the Army camps, $20 a week for man and wife for room and board, and if you are the saving type it is no trick at all to save $7,000 to $8,000 a year."

Britz, searching for a business opening, thinks he has found something that will go in Alaska and plans to fly back in the near future for a second look.

The big business in the territory is an $83,000,000 government construction project that includes an airport which, Britz says, will be the largest in the world when completed. Army installations, highways, etc. "There is plenty of work," he said.

The things that impressed the Britz family most were the prices and the beauty of the country. Prices, as quoted in Fairbanks newspaper ads, are $1.25 a dozen for eggs, milk 45 cents a quart, bread 25 cents a loaf, gasoline 65 cents a gallon, cream 50 cents a half-pint, bowl of chili 75 cents, hamburger and coffee $1. # Hospital

Mrs. Robert Harper, admitted Saturday to St. Francis hospital for injuries sustained in a fall from a moving automobile, is reported in fair condition.

Mrs. Joseph Textmunt, Gladstone, was admitted to St. Francis hospital Sunday for injuries sustained in a fall from a stepladder. X-ray reports were not available last night to learn the extent of injury.

Juanita Dumas was admitted to St. Francis hospital Saturday following an auto accident. Miss Dumas suffered lacerations about the face. The Eustis girl was reported in fair condition Monday night.

There are 1,549,920 white people in New Zealand and 90,880 Maoris. In auto - ownership per capita, New Zealand ranks next to the United States.

Room home sells for $3,000 and a house with two bedrooms sells for $14,500.

"The Alcan highway is one of the finest on which I have ever driven," Britz said, "but the Canadian highways from Edmonton, Alberta, to Dawson Creek, B. C., leading to the Alcan are killers. They are mud, mud and more mud. We spent 3 1/2 days going 60 miles along one stretch. But when you reach the Alcan it is one big broad highway. It is gravel throughout and dusty in places, but it is good. You have to carry your own gasoline because the stations are 200 miles apart. The scenery is beautiful. We saw moose, caribou, bear and thousands of Canada geese and ducks. The trip from Menominee to Fairbanks was 4,250 miles."

While in Alaska they visited Circle Springs, a hot springs resort inside of the Arctic circle, and went to Palmer in the Matanuska valley where they attended the fair. "That fair amazed me," Britz said, "they have every vegetable we grow here and they were all nicer too. I saw cabbage heads that weighed 22 pounds. The season is short, but it is good growing weather."

Returning home they boarded a DC-3 airplane at Fairbanks and made the trip to Chicago in 28 hours with stops at Yachata, Alaska, Seattle, Wash., Billings, Mont., Minneapolis and Chicago. The fare for the entire family including the dog was $586. The fare is $246 from Chicago to Fairbanks.

CITY'S BONDED DEBT $50,000

Lowest In History; Last Bond Will Be Paid In 1951

The bonded debt of the city of Escanaba is now only $50,000, the lowest figure in many years and probably the lowest since it became a city, and by 1951 the city will be entirely free of bonded debt unless new issues are voted by the people.

City Manager A. V. Aronson yesterday said that a $5,000 payment on Sept. 1 on the water bonds reduced that debt to $20,000. Four more payments of $5,000 are to be made, the last on Sept. 1, 1951.

On July 1 of this year the city made a $10,000 payment on its bond debt for the construction of a sewage disposal plant in 1932. The original sewage disposal plant bond issue was $180,000 and there now remains but $30,000 to be paid. The last payment will be made in 1950.

Escanaba has a long history of bonded indebtedness and its near debt-free position at this time is noteworthy.

In 1922 the city's bonded debt totaled $542,500. By 1936 this had been reduced to $326,660 despite new issues of street paving and sewage treatment plant bonds. Now only $50,000 is outstanding on two issues and these will be paid off completely by 1951.

HEIRMAN TALKS TO ROTARIANS

Agricultural Experiment Work Described By County Agent

Tomatoes that resist wilt, corn that a corn borer finds distasteful, a hormone that will keep apples from falling too early, cross-breeding of cattle to increase production—these are some of the experiments being conducted at the Federal Experiment Station at Beltsville, just outside Washington, D. C. Joseph Heirman, Delta county agricultural agent told the Rotary Club yesterday noon at the Delta hotel.

Heirman and other Michigan county agricultural agents last summer visited the federal experiment station to receive first-hand information on the experimental program. The station at Beltsville comprises 14,000 acres and the federal government spends $30,000,000 annually in agricultural experimentation there and in cooperation with the states.

One of the important phases of the experimental work is the development of plant varieties resistant to insects and disease, Heirman said. Eventually there will be a potato of high quality and good growth resistant to scab; a corn has been developed that the corn borer worm does not find appealing; a wild tomato is being crossed with the tame variety to bring resistance against wilt. Other valuable experiments are being made with beans, cabbage and other crops.

Experiments continue in weed control and eradication, Heirman said. In Delta county a demonstration is being conducted with the use of weed killers to control the growth of mustard plants in grain crops. The federal station is experimenting to develop new spray equipment that will increase the effectiveness of weed-killing spray materials.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture at the federal station and in cooperation with the states is conducting other experiments valuable to the future of agriculture, Heirman said. Making this information directly available to the county agents assists them in keeping their work in the field up to date.

Peruvian Snakes Increase In March

Higgins Lake, Mich., (SS)—St. Patrick evidently never got to tropical Peru, for snakes of one common species there are most abundant in his own month of March, collecting records show. This point was brought out in a paper on the seasonal occurrence of snakes, presented by Dr. James Oliver of the American Museum of Natural History before the meeting of the American Society of Ichthyologists and Herpetologists here.

The collections studied by Dr. Oliver were made in the neighborhood of Iquitos, northeastern Peruvian city which is on one of the upper tributaries of the Amazon. Fully 29 percent of the snakes were captured in March. Since the region is almost on the equator and the temperature hardly changes at all, other factors must be sought in accounting for this seasonal "hump" in snake numbers.

Dr. Oliver suggested two factors, both connected with the flooded condition of the streams at this time of year. The first is the greater abundance of frogs, which constitute this snake's principal food. Second is the fact that the flood waters cover much of the land, driving the snakes up onto the ridges and making them easier to capture.

Pastors Discuss Radio Religious Instruction

An evaluation of the presentation of religious instruction by radio was made, its philosophical treatment was studied and suggestions for improvement were presented at a radio institute of the Delta County Ministerial association held in the First Presbyterian church yesterday.

Seminar sessions in the morning and afternoon were led by the Rev. Charles V. Rodrigues, assistant to the director of the Joint Religious Radio Committee of New York City, who stressed the need for making greater use of radio and other mediums in religious instruction.

The organization represented by the Rev. Mr. Rodrigues comprises the following denominations: Congregational, Methodist, Presbyterian, Evangelical and the United Church of Canada. Among its activities are the preparation of religious transcriptions for the National Broadcasting company for presentation overseas.

Sam Ham, program director for WDBC, the Escanaba radio station, explained the policy of the radio station regarding organizations making the most efficient use of time at their disposal. The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Serge Hummon, of Rapid River.

Fourteen pastors from Escanaba, Gladstone, Rapid River and other communities in Delta county attended the session.

The Rev. Mr. Rodrigues came here from Green Lake, Wis., where he was a speaker at the fourth international work shop of audio-visual education, and left Escanaba by train last night to return to New York City.

COUNCIL HOLDS SPECIAL MEET

Discusses Wage Increase For Employees And Zoning Code

The City Council of Escanaba met in special session last night to discuss the new zoning code as recommended by the Chamber of Commerce and also to discuss demands of state, county, and municipal employees and the electrical union for a 13 cent increase in wages. No action was taken on any of the pending matters.

The council refused a permit to Mrs. H. J. Farrell to operate a small store on Washington avenue following objections from residents in the class C residential district.

A wage study prepared by the Civil Service Commission, based on the present living cost, has indicated that a 4 cent increase per hour should be afforded city employees. Though no action was taken by the councilmen, they seemed in favor of a flat bonus to be paid employees for the difference in salary.

Recommendations to control future building in the city, in an effort to eliminate congested, unhealthy areas in construction, were read by Mayor Marvin Coon.

The Chamber of Commerce has recommended that a specialist be engaged by the City of Escanaba to survey the present structure and growth trends, that a new zoning code be adopted to amend the present ordinance, and that a board of appeals, consisting of seven members, be established.

Three Auto Mishaps Listed For Weekend

Three automobile accidents were reported to the city police over the weekend, one of them causing a young woman to suffer injuries.

In the 1900 block on Ludington street Saturday night Robert Hakes of Eustis, who was driving east, ran into a parked truck. A passenger in the car, Miss Juanita Dumas, suffered lacerations about the face and was taken to St. Francis hospital by Charles Pepin, 302 South 18th street. The Hakes car was damaged considerably.

While going west on First avenue south, Gilbert Guindon hopped the curb in the 800 block, moving a piece of the sidewalk one and one-half inches and hitting a cement block. Guindon appeared in justice court Monday and pleaded not guilty to a charge of reckless driving. Hearing has been set for Sept. 11, at 3 p. m.

Robert Beaudoin, 306 South Ninth street, paid a fine of two dollars and court costs of the same in justice court Monday for failure to have an operator's license. Beaudoin, driving on out-of-town car belonging to guests, ran off the road and hit two mailboxes along Lake Shore drive early Sunday morning.

Bird songs are now believed to be a means of warning intruders away from territory appropriated by the singers.

World Free Press

A DRAFT of a proposed international treaty designed to guarantee a free flow of information among peoples of the world has been presented to the American state department by Richard J. Finnegan, publisher of the Chicago Times. The draft represents the combined opinions of leaders of the American press, radio and motion pictures regarding the desired objectives in international freedom of information.

Specifically, the proposed treaty emphasizes the importance of unrestricted flow of information between all peoples of the world and the dangers of government controls over the channels of communications.

It is significant that the draft prepared by Mr. Finnegan is uncompromising regarding American practices of freedom of the press. On the contrary, Mr. Finnegan has pointed out that it is the unanimous opinion of American publishers and radio leaders that no treaty should be entered into by the American government with any nation that seeks to shrink American practices of press freedom. In other words, American publishers will vigorously resist any efforts to woo "cooperation" of totalitarian nations if such cooperation is conditioned upon compromising the principals of a completely free press.

The treaty as drafted by Mr. Finnegan and submitted to the state department is not one that will be quickly accepted by the nations of the world. In truth, it is a treaty that almost certainly will be instantly rejected by Russia and her satellite nations, by Spain and Argentina and by other nations where the government controls the media of communications and where censorship is fundamental policy.

Nevertheless, the objectives are laid down in the proposed treaty and the American publishers will urge the American state department to take the leadership in a world campaign designed to break down the barriers that block a free flow of information between the people of the world. No greater stroke for world peace could be accomplished than this.

The immediate hope is to get the United States to use the draft as the basis for a free exchange of information between this country and one or more other nations with similar beliefs in a free press. Eventually, it is hoped that the treaty could be extended to other nations until finally a free exchange of information could be achieved throughout the world.

Coal Strike in England

BRITAIN'S economic crisis has developed as a result of low industrial production which in turn is caused by inadequate production of coal from Britain's mines.

In view of this condition, the present strike of 70,000 British miners is a severe blow to the government's economic recovery program. The strike has already cost more than 400,000 tons of coal.

The coal miners are striking against a government decree that coal production be increased and that miners work longer hours to accomplish the objective.

The people of the United States have a direct interest in the coal strike in England because the American government has already loaned 3 3/4 billions of dollars to Britain for purposes of economic recovery. The loan money is just about all gone and British industrial recovery still is not evident. Now the British officials are maneuvering for another crack at Uncle Sam's wealth to tide them over a little longer.

It is impossible for England to attain industrial recovery without a marked increase in coal production. But the coal miners refuse to increase production and, in fact, 70,000 of them are now off their jobs entirely.

If the United States pours additional loan money into England now, it will be used solely to support a nation which refuses to try to support itself. Britain can hardly look for sympathy from the American people as long as British coal miners sit around the pubs and refuse to pitch in and help their own country at a time of extreme emergency.

Tax Cuts Pledged

ANNOUNCEMENT by Chairman Knutson of the house ways and means committee that Republicans will renew their efforts to cut federal taxes when congress reconvenes in January does not come as any great surprise but it is encouraging news to the nation's taxpayers nonetheless.

The ways and means committee, which initiates all tax legislation, will convene in Washington Nov. 4 and Chairman Knutson has promised that tax reduction legislation will be considered at that time.

President Truman vetoed two tax reduction bills in the last session of the 80th

Congress and both vetoes were sustained. Any sensible tax reduction bill that is approved by congress at the next session, however, will almost certainly become law, even over a presidential veto, if necessary. The presidential election in 1948 will prove a powerful weapon to force tax reduction, whether Mr. Truman and his administration supporters favor a tax cut or not.

The American people demand and expect relief from the heavy burden of wartime tax rates that are still in effect. They were denied tax relief by presidential action at the last session, but they will certainly win their demands when congress reconvenes.

A Successful Visit

President Truman is returning from Brazil aboard the battleship Missouri after an eventful visit to South America where he made a substantial contribution to Pan-American solidarity and to the "good neighbor" policy of the United States.

The president's visit to Brazil, coupled with his visit last winter to Mexico, helped to cement relationships of the people of the United States with their southern neighbors. The generous welcome with which President Truman was greeted in Brazil was in itself evidence of the friendly attitude of the Brazilians towards the people of the United States.

The American president spoke to the delegates of the Inter-American defense conference at Rio, emphasizing the importance of the mutual assistance treaty signed there by the American republics. Later he addressed the Brazilian congress, at which he made a declaration of American faith in the United Nations.

Enroute home aboard the Missouri, President Truman can look back upon his visit to South America with a realization that he has helped to improve the spirit of friendship that is fast developing between North and South America.

RIGHT-AND WRONG (Iron Mountain News)

There is something to be said on both sides of the proposal to bar a Milwaukee milk-dealer from distributing his products in this area.

First, such a move by the Iron Mountain and Kingsford city councils, and in Iron county, could by all means be interpreted as "restraint of trade," about which so much has been said. This point could be extended to the discouragement of "private enterprise"—a term also widely in use. It could go on from there to such abuses as monopoly of the local market and other practices frowned upon by the "better business" element.

On the other hand, milk dealers in the area now serving this community and Iron county are well within their personal rights in moving to protect their business against outside competition. These dairymen have served their patrons long and faithfully. Their business, in the aggregate, comprises the background of an agricultural development important to this area.

It has been argued that should the Milwaukee company extend its distribution to a point where business of the local producer was threatened, the latter may turn his milk-products into other channels—manufacture of cheese, etc. If this were to occur as a considerable scale, and the Milwaukee distributor should at any time, and for any reason—no matter how plausible—fail in his service to this area, a shortage would occur. Such shortage could, conceivably, be threatening to the health and welfare of the community.

Discussion about quality is, in this instance, beside the point. It is assumed that the Milwaukee company—a reputable and major distributor—would employ every safe-guard to maintain a high quality product, even during the long haul into this area. In any event, county sanitarians would be privileged, periodically, to check the supply, on its receipt here, in the same manner as they are now doing with the local producers.

The whole thing boils down to the point of whether the business of the local producer shall be protected against outside competition by restrictive amendments to existing milk ordinances in the area. Governing bodies here, if they effect such measures, may well expect continued effort and criticism from the competitor, while receiving the commendation of local producers.

THE WORLD CHANGES—SO DO PRONUNCIATIONS

An irate reader demands: "People must stop saying 'AD-dress'! Do your duty, Colby, and warn people against this illiterate pronunciation."

Of course, this modest column has for many years sought to guide its readers in the matter of correct pronunciation and good English usage. However, my recommendations have not, I think, been pedantic nor out of step with the times.

I have recognized the very definite trend, in American speech and writing, away from the formal and dignified and toward the colloquial, which is called "the style of well-bred ease."

For this reason I cannot do as my reader suggests and warn people that the pronunciation "AD-dress," for address (the directions on an envelope, or one's street name and house number), is illiterate. As a matter of fact, "AD-dress" is the prevailing American pronunciation.

Even the dictionaries recognize "AD-dress," and dictionaries are traditionally reluctant to change their listings, even after such listings have become so utterly obsolete as to be ridiculous.

The AD-dress on a letter, or one's residential AD-dress, is sanctioned by Mer-

Berlin — Of all the difficult tasks being undertaken by Americans in Germany, none is tougher than trying to sponsor the growth of free trade unions. Trade unions before Hitler leaned heavily on the state and they were instruments for political action rather than agencies for collective bargaining.

There were Communist unions, Catholic unions, Social - Democratic unions. The American idea of a holiday in tribute to all labor—a Labor Day—is utterly alien to the German approach.

Even under the Weimar Republic, which lived under a kind of oxygen tent from 1920 to 1933, the trade unions were narrowly circumscribed by law, as was the whole process of collective bargaining. Union elections were hedged around by laws. In the initial stages of a labor dispute, the official labor courts took over.

—FREEDOM OF CONTRACT—

The crutch of state authority was always at hand. Therefore, the Nazis found it fairly easy to take over the trade-union movement when they came into power. That is a striking fact which has impressed itself on the Americans who are working at encouraging free collective bargaining through free trade unions in the American zone.

Law No. 22 of the Allied Control Council is the legal base of their efforts. It provides for freedom of contract between management and labor, and it defines the bargaining agency within the individual plant. Under Law No. 22, labor gets nothing that it does not win by contract.

In the tradition of the pre-Hitler past, labor leaders insist on getting many things which are not provided for in labor contracts in the United States. Model contracts being widely accepted provide, for example, that labor shall sit with the directors of the plant in passing on the problems of management.

The Americans who have helped to nurse this program along believe that the principle of free collective bargaining under Law 22 is beginning to be widely accepted. They recognize, however, that the ancient habit of public authority asserting itself will not be cured in a hurry. Thus, the new constitution of Weurtemberg-Baden provides that labor shall be paid just wages and given vacations with pay. In the state of Hesse, the constitution provides that management and labor shall have an equal voice in the operation of the factory, with a neutral party passing on all controversies.

Head of the manpower division in the Military Government is Leo R. Wertz, who was formerly with the War Labor Board in Washington. On his staff are two union men, Joseph D. Keenan of the AFL electrical workers and Maj. Harold F. Mullaney, who was active in the same union in Seattle.

As with every phase of military government, there is a sharp contrast between theory and intention on the one hand and practice and performance on the other. In this instance, it grows out of the fact that money wages mean less and less as the currency becomes more and more inflated.

Take the manager of a plant making bricks. He wants to hold his workers and so he supplements their wages with bricks, which they can sell on the black market. In the spring and early summer, this had become very serious in the American zone.

An elaborate system of barter was growing up. It covered an estimated 20 percent of the whole economy. What made it serious was that it upset plans for building desperately needed houses and otherwise moving to restore some order in chaotic Germany. It meant that materials filtered through the grey market by barter and went into building bowling alleys and movie theaters instead of homes.

In northern Bavaria, an estimated 60 percent of all building materials went into this market. The British reported officially that 30 percent was being drained off in their zone.

An order was issued forbidding this practice of extra compensation in goods. Enforcement is, of course, difficult. At the same time, currency reforms have been initiated.

It is much too early to say whether any part of Germany will ever have free trade unions and something like free collective bargaining. All the tradition and precedent are against it. But even though they know the handicap to be very great, a small group of Americans are working hard to make German labor leaders grasp a concept of action that does not depend on the state.

William Webster's, the Thorndike Century, and Kenyon and Knott's Pronouncing Dictionary.

My recommendation is: Use whichever pronunciation you prefer—AD-dress or address. Both are good usage in Standard American.

Note, however, that the noun address, "a discourse or speech," and the verb address, "act of addressing," are best usage when accented on the second syllable: address.

So, it is good colloquial American to say: "Please give me your AD-dress so that I will know where to AD-DRESS letters to you. I have been invited to address the Rotary Club. The subject of my AD-DRESS will be . . ."

(Note. When address is accented on the second syllable, most persons obscure the "a" in the first syllable, thus: uh-DRESS. This, too, is quite correct, and it is a matter of choice whether to say ad-DRESS or uh-DRESS.)

THE OLD HCL—We're off again folks with another dissertation on the High Cost of Living. It's an involved problem and there is probably nothing that can be done about it except to eat as little as you can and still keep your sinews from fraying out like the end of an old rope.

For the average white collar worker—an all-inclusive phrase that encompasses most of those wage earners not paying union dues—these are trying times. The worker is trying to make enough money to meet the HCL and the HCL is trying to spiral high enough to bring about the collapse of the worker's budget.

Meanwhile the demands of organized labor for higher wages is providing material upon which the rising food-clothing-housing costs can climb to new highs. What the end will be is anybody's guess. It has been our observation that what goes up must come down, either by descending gracefully or falling off and making a disagreeable splash on the pavement.

FINGERS CROSSED—Getting back to the problem of the non-union worker: He is trying to meet the high cost of living without obtaining all the income benefits union membership brings. He does not want to join a union, for he is in that peculiar twilight zone somewhere between labor and management, which often gives him frustrations and business man's stomach without the compensating pleasure of going on strike for awhile to rest up for a 40-hour work week.

The white collar worker is keeping his fingers crossed. Try working sometime with your fingers crossed and see how difficult it is.

HUNGER STRIKE—We note that Mohandas K. Gandhi, the diaphanous disciple of the common man in India, has left off his hunger strike after three days. He grew too weak to hold out against the temptation of his usual three squares a day—a thimbleful of goat's milk and four grains of rice.

Despite Gandhi's inability to withstand the fleshpots, we propose that the white collar workers of America go on a mass hunger strike in protest against the High Cost of Living. This strike will start some day immediately after lunch. Watch your newspaper for further announcements.

During the hunger strike, which would be continued until the High Cost of Living came down or all the white collar workers evaporated, there would be mass meetings, speeches, conclaves, conferences and sessions. All of these get-togethers would be preceded by a light lunch and end with a full course dinner. This would help keep the strike alive.

THE EFFECT—Just imagine. If you can, the fearful chaos that would result as the hunger strike passed its first week and entered its second. Food stores and shops would be filled to overflowing with choice cuts of deteriorating meat. Eggs would spoil. The weevils would eat their way into and through the cereals. Restaurants would close. The President would call a special session of congress, but the legislators, also being white collar workers, would not respond. They would be at a mass meeting fortifying themselves for

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington—The FBI has come in for criticism for alleged "witch-hunting" as a result of the state department's recent loyalty purge and the New York grand jury probe of certain U. S. aviation secrets which leaked to the Russians. Real fact, however, is that the FBI has leaned over backward against witch-hunting.

Most people don't know it, but the FBI was not consulted regarding the dismissal of state department employees. The state department did not even consult FBI records, and there is considerable reason to believe that certain diplomats started the purge hastily and unfairly in order to make an impression with congress.

In the current New York grand jury probe of the Russian spy ring, inside fact is that the FBI opposed any arrests at this time. Careful J. Edgar Hoover suppressed keeping the suspects under surveillance for a considerable longer period in order to gather further evidence and see if they communicated with any other Russian links.

However, when orders came from up above to make arrests, the FBI picked up two former officials late at night after they had visited a friend's house together. They were arrested separately, but within a few minutes of each other.

After the arrests, the FBI quizzed the two men at length, both of whom stated afterward that they were treated with the utmost courtesy. Each was asked to sign a statement summarizing what they had said. When they refused, no pressure was exerted to make them sign. No political questions of any kind were asked.

NOTE—FBI agents making loyalty checks have been accused of asking witnesses whether they read the New Republic, Liberal Weekly edited by Henry Wallace. However, J. Edgar Hoover has given strict orders that no questions of this kind shall be asked, and New Republic editors, when challenged, have failed to produce witnesses who were reported to have been so questioned.

—84-YEAR-OLD LADY STARTS PRICE PROBE—

It was not President Truman, nor the CIO, nor justice department subordinates who inspired the justice department's probe into high prices, but the attorney general's mother.

Attorney General Tom Clark flew to Dallas, had dinner with his 84-year-old mother, listened to her complaints of constantly soaring food prices. Flying to Chicago for a speech next day, he decided to speak on that subject. That was how the price probe was born.

NOTE—Clark did not mention the probe to President Truman until after he had announced it himself, nor did chair-warming Assistant Attorney General Sonnett, who has tried to claim credit through a news columnist, ever talk to the president.

—U. S. FEUD IN GREECE—Ironing out tangled, bankrupt Greece was expected to be a super-tough job, but uncensored diplomatic cables indicate it is even tougher than expected.

One complication is the hot personal rivalry of our two top representatives—ex-Governor Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, and U. S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeigh.

Griswold, sincere, energetic, anxious to clean up Greece in a hurry, has run up against skilled, slower-moving Ambassador MacVeigh, nephew of Mrs. Roosevelt, and stationed in Greece so long that he shies at its many pitfalls.

Result—Both men have been acting as if they were top dog, with hardboiled Greek officials playing one off against the other. Their chief disagreement: How to purge the Greek government.

MacVeigh has always argued that the Greeks must change their own government, but that the USA could not emulate Moscow and dictate government purges.

However, Griswold, even before he left Washington, bluntly informed Secretary of State Marshall that one of the first things he would do was revamp the Greek government.

"Hain't you better go a little slow on that?" Marshall cautioned. "After all, we can't be dictators."

"Last night," replied the ex-governor of Nebraska, "I dined with ten of the most prominent newspapermen in Washington, and every one of them agreed that my first move should be for a new government in Greece."

"I have the highest regard for the newspapermen of Washington," replied Secretary Marshall, in effect, "but I hardly think they are in a position to assume responsibility for changing the Greek government."

Nevertheless, when Gov. Griswold arrived in Athens, he called first on the man he proposed to make Prime Minister, Archbishop Damaskinos, former regent under Winston Churchill. In calling on the archbishop, Griswold ignored the King of Greece and Prime Minister Maximos, whom he should have called on first.

Griswold's proposal to shake up the Greek cabinet has persevered, and the final result should be healthy. Chief trouble in Greece, however, can be solved by neither Griswold nor MacVeigh, whether they agree or disagree—namely, the constant drumfire of Soviet-inspired bullets from the north. This is increasing.

SCHOOLS PLAN LUNCH PROGRAM

Agreement Blanks To Be Received Here Soon, Says Quarnstrom

School lunch programs are being planned in a number of Delta county school districts, and these programs will get under way after agreement blanks are received here from the state department of public instruction, according to Hagle Quarnstrom, Delta county school superintendent.

The school lunch program is financed by federal appropriation, which has been reduced by approximately 15 per cent below last year. Because of the cost involved, the state department of public instruction has delegated the administration of the lunch program to the school superintendents and commissions in each county.

Quarnstrom said yesterday that the state department had advised him two weeks ago that forms for an agreement between the local districts and the state department would be forwarded to him. The forms are expected to be received soon.

Local school districts share in the cost of the lunch program, which has been popular in rural schools of the county. All but three districts last year sponsored lunch programs.

Bay de Noc district last year had two schools under the lunch program. Cornell had two, Ensign two, Rapid River one, Baldwin one, Ford River one, Bark River-Harris district four, Wells three, Nahma one, Brampton one, and Maple Ridge had a lunch program for kindergarten at Rock.

Flodin Family Is Back From Europe

Iron Mountain, Mich.—F. A. Flodin, president of the Lake Shore Engineering company, with Mrs. Flodin and their two daughters, the Misses Joy and Jean, 520 West B, arrived Wednesday night after a tour of the Scandinavian countries and a five-day stay in London, where they went by plane from Copenhagen.

They left Iron Mountain June 30 for New York City, where on July 5 they boarded the steamer, Gripsholm, bound for Gothenburg, Sweden, where they landed on July 15.

The family's first trip, after arriving in the seaport town of Gothenburg—the second in importance in Sweden—was a trip through Norway. The Flodins went to the end of the railroad and saw the fiords—the long narrow inlets, or arms of the sea, between the high rocks and banks.

DRYS MAKING GAINS IN U. S.

Have Won 12,000 Out Of
20,000 Local Option
Fights Already

BY NEA Service
The United States is drying up again, much faster than most people realize.

On thousands of separate fronts throughout the country, the Drays are battling the Wets on the issue of prohibition, and in the majority of cases the Drays are winning. In 20,000 local option elections since repeal, the Drays have won 12,000.

Already a third of the nation has been dried up. Today more than 25,000,000 Americans can't legally buy a drink of liquor; 10,000,000 can't buy legal beer; all this according to Frederick G. Brownell, who assayed the growing prohibition movement for American Magazine.

Three states—Kansas, Mississippi and Oklahoma—never repealed their constitutional bans on drinking. Even in traditionally Wet cities like Chicago, 128 precincts have voted themselves Dry.

The biggest battle between Wets and Drays at the moment is being fought in Kentucky. Brownell found, Kentucky, which produces 43 per cent of the nation's whiskey, already is 82 per cent Dry. Wet Kentucky, Brownell says, is drier than Dry Kansas.

There are now 92 wholly Dry counties in the state and 15 more which contain considerable Dry territory. The Drays are seeking local option elections in seven of the remaining Wet counties this fall and have an even chance of winning them, Brownell found.

One argument Drays have been unable to overcome so far is "who's going to pay the bills if prohibition returns to Kentucky?" Liquor taxes of $11,000,000 last year paid almost a third of the state's general expenses.

The problem of state revenue killed a proposed state-wide prohibition referendum in Alabama even before it got thoroughly started because no one could suggest how to replace the nearly $12,000,000 revenue that would be lost if liquor sales were banned.

Nevertheless, the Drays are pushing their campaign for return of national prohibition. Predictions of how soon this can be accomplished vary from five to 20 years.

"Five years if the Wets don't get smart and correct current abuses," says Deets Pickett of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church.

In Congress, Arthur Capper of Kansas heads the Dry forces in the Senate, and Joseph R. Bryson of South Carolina, Dry "internally, externally and eternally," does the same job in the House.

Bryson estimates that 10 per cent of the present House is for prohibition as a matter of principle while most of the Southern Representatives, except those from metropolitan centers, would vote Dry as a matter of expediency.

On the national front, the latest drive of the Drays was an unsuccessful attempt to secure passage of Capper's bill to ban interstate liquor advertising. Capper believes that sentiments for prohibition is growing about as fast as it did at the turn of the century, before the passage of the 18th Amendment.

New Metal Alloys Stand High Heat

Salt Lake City, (SS)—Gas turbine engines, the coming power plants in many applications ranging from airplanes to trucks and buses, are possible because scientists succeeded in developing metal alloys capable of withstanding very high temperatures over long periods, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told here by Dr. Clyde E. Williams, director of Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, Ohio.

A group of new super metals and ceramics soon will be available for man's new high-powered machines, the turbo-jet, rocket and atomic energy power plants, he said. They will withstand higher temperatures and pressure than materials now available, and so will offer potentialities for power generation that are "simply staggering."

Grotto Of Our Lady Of Lourdes At Stephenson

On the grounds of the Precious Blood Parish at Stephenson stands a grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes which was built by its pastor, Rev. Albert J. Treilles in 1941 and blessed by the Most Rev. Bishop Magner in 1942.

The monument is a replica of the famous grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes, in the Department of Hautes Pyrenees, France. The place is far-famed for the pilgrimage of which it is a center and for the extraordinary events that have occurred and still occur there.

Vision of Bernadette
The pilgrimage of Lourdes is founded on the apparitions of the Blessed Virgin Mary to a poor, fourteen year old girl, Bernadette Soubirous. The first apparition occurred on February 11, 1858. There were eighteen in all, the last took place July 16 of the same year.

Bernadette often fell into an ecstasy. The mysterious vision she saw in the hollow of the rock Massabielle was that of a young and beautiful lady, "Lovelier than I have ever seen," said the child. Now and then the apparition spoke to her, she alone hearing the voice. One day, the beautiful lady told her to drink of a mysterious fountain, in the grotto itself. On another occasion the apparition bade Bernadette go and tell the priests she wished a chapel to be built on the spot and processions to be made to this grotto.

In 1862 a basilica was built upon the rock Massabielle by the parish priest. In 1873 the great "National" French pilgrimages were inaugurated. In 1893 another church called the Church of the Rosary was built at the foot of the basilica.

Never has a sanctuary attracted such throngs. At the end of the year 1908, when the 50th anniversary of the apparitions was celebrated the pilgrimages had brought 5 million pilgrims.

Every nation in the world furnishes its contingent.

But more remarkable still than the crowd of pilgrims is the series of wonderful occurrences which take place under the protection of the celebrated sanctuary. Passing over spiritual cures and confining only in bodily diseases, more than 4000 cures have been counted within the first fifty years of the pilgrimages. All objections by skeptical reviews have to be discarded. Unprejudiced minds cannot but be convinced that the facts stated are authentic. There is at Lourdes a steady bureau of physicians and specialists, young and old, representing all countries and all creeds.

There is no natural cause capable of producing the cures witnessed at Lourdes which dispense

Lester-Bernier

A pretty summer wedding took place at the St. John the Baptist church Saturday morning, Miss Mary Jean Lester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lester Sr. being united in marriage with Gerard Emil Bernier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bernier Sr. at a nuptial high mass, Fr. Arnold Thompson officiating. Mrs. Wm. Swaer accompanied Miss Patricia Guertin as she sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother."

Mrs. Janet Ralph and Miss Faith Lester, sisters of the bride, attended as matron of honor and bridesmaid and Eugene Bernier Jr. and Ernest Bernier, brothers of the groom served as best man and usher.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a bodice of Spanish lace and net skirt with self ruching down the front, a long train with Spanish ruffle and orange blossoms and lace trimmed the front of the dress. The imported Spanish veil was crowned with apple blossoms. Calla lilies, roses and asters formed the all white bouquet.

Big engines... long trains

mean lower cost to you!

But union leaders want "half-trains"—double crews!

Big locomotives are built to do a big job in the big country which is America—a big job in peacetime as in wartime. They are built to pull long trains.

Long freight trains can handle more goods at less cost—to you—than short trains.

Long trains mean fewer trains—fewer chances for accidents—fewer interruptions to traffic.

But a few railroad union leaders oppose long trains—among their current 44 demands for changes in rules is one limiting the length of freight trains to 57 average cars. Why do they demand this?

For "safety," they say. But is it? Government figures show definitely that long trains mean greater safety to railroad employees and public alike.

Then, if safety is not the real reason—what is the reason behind this demand?

It is to make more jobs which are not needed—to get more pay! This "made work" would be sheer waste. Think of big, modern locomotives using only half their power.

For this waste, you—the public—would have to pay. Higher costs mean a lower standard of living for everybody. Nobody wants that!

Here's the record...

In the quarter century...1921-1946...

Average length of freight trains has gone up...	39%
Average speed of freight trains has gone up...	39%
The rate of injuries to railroad employees has gone down...	60%
Average wages paid railroad workers have gone up...	84%
Price of railroad materials and supplies has gone up...	58%
Railroad taxes have gone up...	76%
But the average charge by railroads for hauling a ton of freight one mile has gone down...	23%

GREEN ORANGES

The color of the skin is no gauge to ripeness in oranges, plant scientist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture remind housewives. Fully ripe, sweet oranges in prime condition for eating may have skin that is green-tinged or wholly green. In the normal course of growth on the tree, these oranges first are green. By midwinter they have become bright orange, but in spring as they approach full ripeness, they may turn green again. Re-greening is a natural process. As the three begins to make new growth in the spring, its green coloring matter called chlorophyll increases throughout the tree—not only in the leaves but also in the fruit.

ENLARGED PORES

If your skin shows enlarged pores and blackheads, use no cream on the face until the pores are normal and the blackheads disappear. Cleanse skin often.

COOLING AIDS SUGAR BEETS

Salt Lake City—Large savings in sugar result from the storage of sugar beets at near freezing temperature while awaiting processing at the sugar mills, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers were told here today by R. D. Barmington of the Colorado Agricultural Experiment Station, at Fort Collins.

Sugar losses in a stored pile of beets vary from one quarter to one pound per day, depending upon the temperature of the pile, he stated. When a 60,000-ton pile of beets is stored in an average-sized factory district, the loss of one pound of sugar per ton means a loss of 36 tons of sugar daily.

For best storage of beets, the temperature must be reduced from about 50 degrees Fahrenheit, the average temperature of the soil at harvest time in Colorado, to as near 32 degrees as possible without freezing. One cooling means suggested is artificial ventilation using night air, which is usually 35 degrees or lower during the storage season. The statements are based on experimental work at the Colorado station.

SEA LAMPREY FIGHT STARTS

Good Results Expected In Effort To Curb Parasitic Eel

Washington, D. C.—(WNS)—Efforts of the late Rep. Fred Bradley of Michigan toward the elimination of the trout killing sea lamprey in Great Lakes waters are beginning to bring results, the Fish and Wildlife Bureau of the Department of the Interior said today.

The bureau is working on new methods of control of this devastating member of the finny tribe, and one discovery may prove highly effective.

In the 79th Congress Representative Bradley introduced a bill making an appropriation of $20,000 for use of the Fish and Wildlife Bureau in battling the lamprey which kills millions of fish in the lakes every year. At the time of the introduction of the bill, Mr. Bradley described to this writer the depredations of the lamprey in its attack on game fish. He explained the sharp saw teeth of the lamprey, how it swims back and forth under a lake trout, whose scales are less compact than those of other fish and less protective, scrapes a wound and then fastens its jaws in the wound and takes the blood from the helpless trout.

He said he had taken trout from the lakes with four or five wounds showing the attack of the lamprey and had seen many killed by the voracious fish. He said he made the appropriation small so that the bill would pass and have a good chance of presidential approval.

The fund was to be used in making surveys and working out methods of control. Studies had already been made of the life cycle of the lamprey. The lamprey goes up the streams in the spring to spawn, and the principal plan of attack was to trap the fish in the streams with weirs or other traps and kill them. Killing the young in the nest was another method. These methods are expensive and slow, however. Experiments with electricity are being conducted. Investigations of the Fish and Wildlife Bureau have brought out a new point relative to the lamprey which may spell the doom of the fish. It has been found that the oil from the lamprey contains vitamin A, a vitamin of great importance to man, animals and plants.

The lamprey, therefore, may develop into a valuable asset and may be taken in large numbers from the Great Lakes because of this vitamin, and may be so reduced in numbers that the fish will cease to be a menace to the trout and other game fish.

In addition to the Federal appropriation, Michigan and other lake states are providing funds for the attack on the lamprey, also the Province of Ontario, Michigan has contributed twice as much or more than the Federal Government to the cause.

So, the sea lamprey may be doomed, or at least, greatly handicapped in his destructive efforts.

throat alongside the fish. His fingernail could just reach the fin. With his finger down the patient's throat and another on the outside of it, the surgeon maneuvered the fish, much as a baby is sometimes maneuvered and turned during childbirth to a head-first position, and "successfully delivered" it from the patient's throat. In two days the tube through his neck was removed and the patient got well.

Malayan villagers, Dr. Lewis adds, declare that when fishing for ikan betok "one should not laugh but keep one's mouth shut."

Fisherman Is Jonah In Reverse; Nearly Choked Unto Death

London, (SS).—A fish story in which the luckless fisherman played Jonah in reverse and almost choked to death is reported by Dr. R. M. B. Lewis, acting surgeon, Negri Sembilan, Malayan Union, to the British Medical Association here.

The fish was no whale, being five inches long and slightly over three in circumference. Malaysians call it ikan betok.

When the fisherman drew in his net in a rice field and peered over the edge to inspect his catch, the fish leaped out of the water into his mouth and disappeared down his throat. It stuck there, the long spiked dorsal fin firmly embedded in the wall of the pharynx. Friends and relatives tried in vain to dislodge the fish and finally brought the man to the hospital in what Dr. Lewis terms a "very distressed state."

Tail Comes Off

Dr. Lewis could see the tail of the fish over the base of the tongue and tried to pull the fish out by grasping the tail with a sponge holding forceps. All that happened was that the tail came off, making matters worse than ever.

The patient by this time was turning blue so he was taken to the operating room and an opening cut through his neck into his windpipe and a tube inserted. This let him breathe freely again, but meanwhile his jaws had become firmly closed and could not be opened. So he had to be anesthetized by chloroform over the tube into his windpipe. His mouth was then opened and the surgeon put a finger down his

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

WHERE DO the names of characters in a novel come from? Some day someone is going to make a study of this fascinating issue; if done in the right spirit it will be more exciting than a detective story.

As a detail in such a study I would suggest that the investigator will find that seldom does a major novelist give his own given name to one of his characters—at least not to one of his major characters. Novelists appear to be self-conscious about the names given them by their parents.

For example, we do not find Sinclair Lewis calling one of his characters "Sinclair." Nor do we find Upton Sinclair calling one of his major figures "Upton." To go to the higher levels of literature, Rudyard Kipling, so far as I know, never called anyone in his poems or novels or short stories "Rudyard."

It may be taken as a fairly fixed principle that no novelist who has a somewhat unusual given name ever pins it on one of his major characters. And the more unusual the given name of the author is the less is the likelihood that one of his characters will bear it.

When an author has a common name like John or William or Charles, he can't always avoid using it. Thus Charles Dickens did not keep clear of "Charles" and John Galsworthy could not avoid "John." But they did not use those names for major characters. Dickens called his major figures "David" or "Martin" or "Barbary"; Galsworthy called his "Soames" or "Mark."

This self-consciousness of novelists about their own given names is probably not unconnected with the fundamental autobiographical character of all novels. The author or probably feels that if he gave his own Christian name to a hero he would be subtly praising himself, whereas if he gave it to a villain he would be suggesting an injustice to himself.

There is one conspicuous exception to this principle, and it is in the highest realm of literature. There is hardly a greater novelist in all the world's fiction than Dostoevsky, yet in his greatest novel, "The Brothers Karamazov," this supremely great Russian gives his own Christian name to his most detestable character.

Dostoevsky's given name was not commonplace, even in Russia. It was Fyodor, and because of its unusual look and sound it stands out on the page like a sore thumb. It must have taken a certain amount of courage to give that name to not only the most detestable character in this particular novel but surely one of the most detestable characters in all literature.

The story, as you know, deals with three Karamazov brothers—a waster, and intellectual, and a saint. The first half of the long novel is almost dominated by the father of those three boys, and he is so vile, so sensual, so insufferable, that when he gets murdered about half way through the story the reader feels he richly deserves what is coming to him. It is hard to imagine how any writer could create a character who deserves condemnation more richly.

Yet Dostoevsky elected to call him Fyodor Pavlovitch Karamazov, and throughout the novel he is most frequently referred to as Fyodor, and his three sons are often identified, in the Russian fashion as Fyodorovitch, Dostoevsky, who was a deeply religious man with an almost pathological sense of his own sinfulness, probably used the name as a kind of spiritual "laceration" to use his own word. At any rate, the use of the name is unusual enough to win attention.

MRS. M. HOLBEIN
PASSES AWAYRites Wednesday For
Wife Of Pioneer
Publisher

Mrs. Mary Holbein, 81, widow of the late George E. Holbein, who for years was editor and publisher of the Manistique Pioneer Tribune, died Sunday afternoon at the Shaw hospital, where she had been a patient for two weeks. She had been in declining health for several years.

Mrs. Holbein was born on April 12, 1866 at Randolph, Ohio, and lived there until her marriage on Oct. 29, 1890, to Mr. Holbein. Shortly afterward they came to Manistique to live and this has been her home ever since.

Mrs. Holbein was active in many phases of community life, particularly in church and club work. She was a member of the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, and of the Ladies' Aid of that church, of the Manistique Women's club and a life member of the Order of Eastern Star.

Surviving her are a daughter, Mrs. Grace Abell, a granddaughter, Mrs. John Halter, and a great granddaughter, Judith Ann Halter, all of Detroit. Mr. Holbein died in May 1917.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, with the Rev. Paul Sobel officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. Friends may call at the Mortuary Funeral home until Wednesday noon.

Dartball Again
To Be Favored
Winter Activity

Dartball will again be a much favored activity in Manistique this fall and winter. A church league made up of 12 teams was organized at a recent meeting, the league being divided into two divisions, one dubbed the American and the other the National.

The new teams entered are, two teams from the Knights of Columbus, two from the First Baptist church, one team from the Methodist church and one more from the Presbyterian church.

Thor Reque has been appointed commissioner and it will be his duty to settle any disputes or problems during the season. The league has adopted the Milwaukee metropolitan board and rules, with a few amendments to conform to team requirements. New boards have been ordered.

It was decided that there would be four rounds of playing or 22 weeks. The first round, beginning October 6 and ending Nov. 11, will be designated as practice games so that the six new teams will become thoroughly acquainted with the game. These games will be between teams of both divisions. Official scoring will begin Nov. 11 when the teams will play only with those in their divisions.

Plans for a tournament and banquet at the end of the season were discussed and will be acted upon at a later meeting.

Marked Increase
In High School
Enrollment Noted

A marked increase in the number of students at Manistique high school was noted in the opening day session Monday by Carl Olson, principal.

Although exact figures were not available at the close of the first day's session, Mr. Olson said that at the end of last week there were 490 students enrolled and he is certain that at least a dozen students had enrolled Monday morning. This is considerably more than the enrollment on opening day last year.

There has been no formal session of classes as yet as a number of course assignments remained to be adjusted before the close of the day.

Gould City Town
Hall Destroyed
By Fire Sunday

Fire, believed to have been caused by a short circuit in the building's wiring system, completely destroyed the town hall at Gould City Sunday evening.

The fire was discovered about 7:30 p. m., flames sweeping near the gable of the structure and had gained such headway when discovered that the limited fire fighting equipment available at the time was far from adequate. A call for help was sent to Manistique and John Blomquist, local fireman, was sent with the county truck but the building was doomed before he arrived and he confined his efforts to the protection of adjacent property.

Another building caught fire, but this was put out in short order.

DEER RIFLES
DAMAGE RANGEClub Members Angered
By Misuse Of Target
Backstop

Use of high powered rifles against newly constructed backstop of the range of the Gladstone Rifle and Pistol club on the bluff has caused damage to the backstop and displeasure to members of the rifle club.

During the summer, club members constructed a new 100-yard range with concrete block backstop. The interior of the backstop is filled with earth and four foot strips of boiler plate have been hung from the top around the inside.

A target stand has been erected in front of the then bulwark. The earth was placed to catch and expand the energy of the bullets after they have pierced the target.

Sometimes Friday or Saturday some person or persons went to the range with deer rifles and not bothering to set up a target just shot at the boiler plate piercing it in six or more places. The projectiles then smashed the concrete behind the plate.

Targets are left for the convenience of persons wishing to sight their rifles.

If further damage is done to the range, the club will be forced to limit use of the range to bona-fide members of the club, Secretary W. W. Wixom said yesterday.

Bride Of H. P. Lyen

Miss Betty June Quistorf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nye Quistorf, 1118 Wisconsin avenue, became the bride of H. Paxton Lyen, 7702 Warnall Rd., Kansas City, Mo., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lyen, Nevada, Mo., at a charming home ceremony which took place on Thursday afternoon, September 4, in the living room of the Nye Quistorf home, before the fireplace which was banked by huge blue vases filled with pastel colored gladioli and smaller vases of delphiniums and baby breath.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Glenn Kjelberg, pastor of Memorial Methodist church.

Mrs. Mauritz Brink sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. Ed Olson Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mackie were the bridal attendants.

For her wedding the bride chose a street length dress of steel gray satin with a bustle effect and low draped neckline. Her flowers were a cascade of Rubrum lilies. Her wedding ring was a wide carved band of three shades of gold set with rubies.

The bridesmaid wore a biege gabardine suit, and a corsage of red rose buds tied with gold ribbons.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Quistorf was attired in a powder gray tulle dress complemented by an orchid corsage.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The table was decorated with white tapers centered by the wedding cake which was topped by a bell.

A wedding dinner, with covers laid for 15 guests was served at the Dells.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Lyen have left on a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks, Osage Beach, Mo., and upon their return will make their home in Kansas City, Mo., where the groom is employed by the Southwest Hotel association.

Out-of-town guests were Miss Estrid Holm, Chicago, and Clay Holm, Milwaukee.

Bill Reese Nabbed
Again For Battling

A complaint charging William Reese, 23, residing between Brampton and Perkins, with disturbing the peace by being drunk and disorderly and fighting on Delta avenue, was made yesterday by Michigan State Police who were called to halt an altercation in the 1000 block on Delta avenue Saturday night.

According to the story obtained from police authorities, Reese assaulted a patron and was ejected from a local tavern Saturday evening. Later he attacked the man again in front of the place, it was said, and was knocked out just as officers arrived. Reese was placed in the city jail where he claimed one of his arms was broken earlier. He refused examination by a physician, however, and later was released in the custody of his parents who told officers they would see that he had a physician's care.

He was not at home yesterday when officers went to serve the warrant.

Officers said it was the fifth time Reese had been arrested for being drunk and disorderly. Three of the offenses occurred in Gladstone and one of them at the U. P. State Fair.

Hazel Pepin Bride
Of Allan Gillis, Jr.

Gladioli and cut flowers in pastel shades and lighted tapers decorated the altars of All Saints Catholic church on Saturday morning, September 6, when Miss Hazel Ruth Pepin, daughter of Mrs. Eva Pepin, 560 North 9th street, and Allan Gillis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Gillis, Jr., 1114 Wisconsin avenue, spoke their nuptial vows. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Matt LaViolette at 9 o'clock.

The mass of the Blessed Sacrament was sung by the members of All Saints choir. Miss Mildred Ketchum was soloist, singing Gounod's "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." The traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. C. A. LaFave, organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Frederick Pepin, was lovely in a slipper satin and lace gown. The fitted bodice and leg of mutton sleeves which came to points over the wrists were made of lace, and the sheer square scalloped yoke formed a high neckline. The full skirt fell into a long graceful train centered with a lace panel. Her three quarter length veil was attached to a crown of seeded pearls. She carried white gladioli centered with red roses and a pearl rosary, the gift of the bridesmaid.

The maid of honor, Miss Francis Quinn, city, wore a pink dotted Swiss floor length gown, with a pink shoulder veil and carried pink gladioli and yellow roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Twila Payton, Appleton, Wis., and Mrs. Oliver Ohlen, sister of the groom, city, were attired in blue and yellow wnet gowns with matching shoulder veils and carried bouquets of yellow and lavender gladioli and pink roses.

The three little flower girls, Suzanne Pepin, Sharon Mosier and Marjorie Pepin, were dressed in dotted Swiss floor length gowns of blue, yellow and pink and wore matching ribbon bows in their hair. They carried bouquets of cut flowers in pastel shades.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pepin was attired in a teal colored suit with grey pin stripe and black and grey accessories, complemented by a shoulder corsage of orchid and white gladioli.

The bridegroom's mother wore a forest green suit with rust and beige accessories and a corsage of salmon colored gladioli.

The groom was attended by Jack Krout, who was best man and Robert Pepin and Clifford Gillis, ushered.

A wedding dinner for fifty guests was served at the Chicken Shack, and a reception for over 100 guests was held at the Fredrick Pepin home, 219 South 10th street. Pink, blue and yellow crepe paper streamers and cut flowers formed the home decorations. The wedding cake, topped by two love birds centered the serving table.

The newlyweds have left on a trip to Niagara Falls and Chicago and upon their return will reside in Gladstone.

The bride is a graduate of Gladstone high school, class of 1945, and attended a beauty school in Green Bay.

— is a graduate of Gladstone high school, class of 1942. He served for three years in the U. S. Army and was in the European sector.

DDT IS TESTED TO CURB POLIO

Experiment Is Conducted At Wilmington, Delaware

Washington—Infantile paralysis gives signs of leveling off throughout the nation. At the same time a sharp outbreak in Wilmington, Del., has turned that city into a proving ground for trial of DDT as an anti-polio weapon.

A total of 529 cases for the nation were reported from state health officers to the U. S. Public Health Service for the week ending Aug. 23, latest on which official figures are available. This is an increase over the 411 reported the previous week. But it is only a 28 per cent increase, whereas there was a 47 per cent increase during the preceding week (Aug. 16). The drop in percentage increase is what suggests that the polio season may be drawing to an end.

Delaware is having the largest amount of infantile paralysis for the size of its population, that is, the highest incidence rate, of any state. Latest figures for that state, obtained by special request of the U. S. Public Health Service to the state health officer, show that the state has had 78 cases from the first of the year through Aug. 25. Of these, 19 occurred on Aug. 22, 23, 24, and 25. Of the total since the first of the year, Wilmington has had the majority (57).

Wilmington has already had one spraying with DDT and will have another within a few days. The spraying, done from airplane and also by crews operating sprayers on the ground, is under the direction of Drs. Vernon B. Link and Griffith E. Quimby of the U. S. Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

Object of the spraying is to kill flies which are suspected of spreading infantile paralysis. Whether flies actually do spread the polio virus and whether, if so, they are the only means by which it spreads are two questions that have not yet been definitely answered.

If infantile paralysis cases drop off suddenly in Wilmington about two weeks from now, health authorities will feel that the case against flies is much stronger. They will not be convinced that flies spread the disease until they have had experience in eight or 10 outbreaks in which cases drop sharply after flies have been routed.

Justice Of Supreme Court Douglas Kept Home By Illness

Washington, Sept. 8. (P)—Because of illness Justice William O. Douglas is not expected to return to the supreme court bench for opening sessions of the new term next month.

An authoritative person who asked not to be identified said today Douglas would not return from his summer home in Oregon until November, at the earliest.

The exact nature of Douglas' illness was not known, but it was said that he had been advised by his west coast physicians to take a recuperating rest through October.

posals as they now stand and the explanations given thereon do not provide an adequate basis for the development by the committee of specific proposals for an effective system of international control of atomic energy.

That was based on a Canadian resolution which Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, had resisted stoutly and Prof Skobeltsyn in turn fought against today.

It was approved finally by a vote of 10 to 0, with Russia and Poland abstaining on that point.

Shellmound Reveals Ancient Mexicans

Washington (P)—A large, shellmound, or "kitchen midden," which may prove to be the first trace of a pre-pottery, pre-agricultural population has been discovered in southern Mexico by an archeological expedition of the National Geographic Society and the Smithsonian Institution, in cooperation with the Instituto Nacional de Antropologia y Historia de Mexico.

The mound which contains clam shells, mixed with earth, charcoal and ash, and various objects of human manufacture, is about 350 feet long by 250 feet wide and more than 10 feet high.

A test trench produced a few fragments of crude pottery from the upper most levels. In the lower portion only obsidian knives and pieces of worked and shaped animal bones were uncovered. The existence of such an ancient hunting and shell-gathering economy has been speculated on by archeologists but this is the first discovery that can be attributed to such a culture.

VETERANS TOUR EUROPE

Pitching, Hitting Champions In City Softball Announced

Winding up a busy season with a 465 batting average, Arne Erickson of the Texaco Stars annexed the hitting championship of the American Softball league in Escanaba, as Earl "Junior" Porath, Larmays who placed second with .441, topped home run honors with 11 circuit blows.

Others finished as follows: Tom Brayak, Larmays, .431; Willard Severinsen, Larmays, .382; Winters, Vets, .347, and Paul Larson, Vets, .344.

Tom Elgeert, Paper Mill, with a record of eight triumphs without a loss, easily topped pitching honors in the American. Paul Larson of VFW was second with nine triumphs and three losses, and his teammate, Louis Kositzke, placed third with six victories and two defeats.

All above figures were announced as final and official by the Rev. A. A. Schabow, president of the Escanaba Softball association.

The Rev. Mr. Schabow also announced that Beaudoin won the National league trophy with a .482 average, followed by Lindstrom, .458, and Nicholson, .453. All are Delta Transit players.

Bill Courneene, Public Utilities moundsman, was a clear cut victor in the pitching department in the National. No one ever came close to Courneene, who chalked up 15 (count 'em) triumphs without a loss.

Managers and officials of the city association will meet in the city hall at 7:30 tomorrow evening to make plans for the association windup dinner.

CLEAN SLATE FOR FAIR

Philadelphia, Sept. 8. (P)—Ferry Fain, the Philadelphia Athletics' rookie first baseman, today was returned to good standing by American League President Will Harridge. Harridge suspended Fain indefinitely Saturday for taking a punch at Eddie Pellagrini, Boston Red Sox third baseman, in a night game last Friday.

Bazooka Fills 3 Children, Injures 5 On Kansas Farm

Newton, Kas., Sept. 8. (P)—A bazooka rocket explosion which killed three children and injured five others in their farm home was under investigation today by Fort Riley officials.

The bazooka, which Arnold Schmidt, father of the children, said he had picked up near Fort Riley, exploded last night after one of the youngsters threw it on a cement walk.

Killed instantly was Calvin Schmidt, 11. Portions of the child's body were found scattered over a wide area. Caroline 7, and Paul David 9, died enroute to the hospital.

In a critical condition and not expected to live are Donald 15 and Lorene 5. The three other Schmidt children, Robert 13, Marvin 3, and Arnold 12 are not injured seriously.

The parents of the children were in a theater in North Wichita at the time and were interrupted on their way home and taken to the Newton hospital.

TROOPS FIGHT REFUGEES ON BRITISH BOAT

statement tonight:

"The facts are these: "For the first two hours there was nothing more than what the troops called 'passing along.' But then it became evident that just 'passing along' was not by any means going to get the immigrants off the ship and that some sort of force would have to be used.

"A large force of military police was then marched on board. This had an almost immediate effect. Some 30 or 40 of the immigrants were certainly somewhat roughly handled. They had to be or they would not have left. The chief fact is that out of 1,406 refugees on board, only one actually was injured and whether he received his injury from treatment at the hands of soldiers or from hitting his head on a bulkhead during the skirmishing is obscure. To my knowledge, truncheons were not used." (British officials on the dock put the number of Jews disembarked at 1,406.)

Spit At Soldiers

Men, women, and children were dragged down and dumped on the dock, many kicking and flailing their arms and shouting defiance. Many of the Jews, frustrated in their dream of celebrating the Jewish high holy days a week hence in Palestine, began to wail. They shouted against "Hitlerism" and being returned to "this land which is a bloody graveyard of millions of Jews."

En route to Poppendorf there was more trouble on the first of the two refugee trains. This train had to stop for repairs of damage done by its refugee occupants, who, British authorities said, tore iron bars out of the windows in attempts to fashion weapons.

But when the trains reached the Kuecknitz station near the camp, there were no serious incidents.

The Jews were removed quietly at the rural station which was ringed with barbed wire. They were transported on trucks to the Poppendorf camp. There they were placed behind three rows of barbed wire and under guard of a soldier force.

Edward Morrow of the New York Times and Denis Martin of the London Daily Herald, the two newsmen on pool assignment permitted aboard the transport, said the military police crowded the Jews in the forward hold in order to line them up for funneling through files of soldiers who would hand them up stairways to the decks.

When operations began in the second hold the Jews began demonstrations. Some refused to move or let the troops take their baggage. Girls spat at the soldiers. At first the soldiers tried to push them into moving, but later resorted to use of clubs.

Norbert Wollheim, vice chairman of the Central committee of liberated Jews in the British zone, said the Jewish welfare agencies would not go to the aid of the encamped Jews "unless they themselves request it." Wollheim said previously the Jewish organizations refused to help in treating the injured as a protest against the British action in bringing the Jews to Germany.
